DECEMBER 27, 1912, NORWAY, MAINE.

A Sad Drowning Accident.

Gerald Thompson, who had been calling on friends in North Norway, Sunday afternoon, started to skate down Lake Pennessawassie about 4 o'clock, to the village, and when nearly opposite Thomas shore broke through the ice and was drowned. He was alone but others were on the lake, and his cries for help attracted the attention of Percy Fogg, Russell Bethell and Harold Thomas, who were skating some distance from the place where he broke in.

They immediately started for the other shore, and on reaching the place where the cries came from, they merely saw the skate tracks, a hole in the ice, and bubbles coming to the surface but nothing else was seen.

Harold Thomas came to the village for the coroner, A. P. Bassett, who with Fred Cummings, Ed. Cummings and Harrington Flint went to the scene with grapnels. A boat was used as the ice would not hold and after about two hours the body was recovered.

Gerald was the son of Walter S. Thompson, who was drowned at Kezar Pond in June, 1905 and the same grapplings that were used to take him from the water were the ones made to remove his father from Kezar Pond, a little over seven years ago.

Thompson was 22 years of age, and was soon to be married to a young lady at North Norway.

Mr. Thompson was born in Mechanic Falls, Dec. 23, 1890, the son of Walter S. and Jennie E. Thompson. He had lived in Norway a little over twenty years. He attended the public schools here, and was a favorite among his classmates.

He took an active part in athletics, and was very popular in the basketball ball games which have been held the past fall. For the past six years Mr. Thompson has been working at the shoe factory.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. E. L. Farrar, and a brother and sister, besides a large circle of friends.

The funeral was held on Tuesday at 1 o'clock at the Methodist church, where he attended. The services were conducted by Rev. B. C. Wentworth. The bearers were Will McDaniel, Clarence Dunham, Fred LaFrance and Phillip Haskell. Burial took place at Pine Grove cemetery.

Price Webber is well known to the theater going public of Norway, having been here for 35 years with only two years' absence during that time, and his coming always brings large audiences, well knowing that they get their money's worth when they hear Price Webber and his company.

Florence Langton, (Edwina Grey) the female detective, was the leading character and became a detective through her love for her sister, Una Langton, and to "satisfy her natural curiosity." Miss Grey was particularly adapted for the part, and received much applause. "Una Langton" (Hattie Lewis) became engaged to marry Barry Mallon, (Kenneth Flemming) an adventurer who was already married to Stella Bittart, (Elsie Bishop) and she was exceedingly popular and received hearty applause. The parts were all finely rendered, and the two special numbers added much to the pleasure of the evening's entertainment.

Indigestion

Causes Dizziness, Nervousness, Sick Headache, Sleeplessness.

MI-O-NA Stomach Tablets Banish all Misery, Gas and Sourness.

You know that most of the ailments named above come from an out of order stomach; of course you do.

If your food doesn't digest, but lays heavily on your stomach, it has started to ferment.

When it ferments it sets loose in the stomach poisonous gases which irritate the great nerve that leads directly to the brain from the stomach.

That irritation causes heartburn, dizziness, night sweats, nervousness.

MI-O-NA will end all stomach misery, or money back. A large box costs only 50 cents and is sold by Noyes Drug Store and druggist everywhere. adv. 51 52

A Valuable Suggestion

IMPORTANT TO EVERYONE

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

During the winter months especially, when we live an indoor life, the kidneys should receive some assistance when needed, as we take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than Nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, inability to hold urine, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, sallow complexion, rheumatism, may be weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

An herbal medicine containing no minerals or opiates has the most healing influence. An ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail, absolutely free. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention the Norway Weekly Oxford County Advertiser. 49 52

A Christmas Card.

To E. M. D.

Just a simple card that came one day,
Bearing a message bright and gay,
A cold time card of Christmas cheer,
Received with smiles that were mingled with tears.

The written side revealed as we read,
A loving heart and a level head.
In modest words success is told,
Between the lines reads the story of old.

That the golden card of friendship rings true,
And the message goes back, "good cheer to you."

As from mind to mind the message we send,
We have read you aught, we are sure glad friend.

ALICIA KENDALL GROVER.

Rev. J. M. Frost, District Superintendent, preached a Christmas sermon in the M. E. church. There was special music for the occasion. Mr. Frost enjoyed the choir's music much.

Any farmer living near a railroad track would do well to carry insurance on his stock, as he never can tell on what day a gate may be left open and valuable stock be killed by a passing train. We read of a farmer the other day who lost four fine colts at one time in such a manner. While the railroad can usually be made to pay damages, they do not always cover the loss.

It is a pretty sensible thing to steer shy of the fellow who is dead anxious to sell you something that is going to fetch you health or wealth by a short cut and with the investment of a relatively small amount of money. In nine cases out of ten he does not belong to the Benefactor class at all, but is a plain grafter and eager to get his hands on your hard earned money.

At the national corn show held the latter part of January at Columbus, O., the first prize of $1,000 for the best ten ears of corn exhibited was awarded to Roy Clore, a lad nineteen years old, of Franklin, Ind. It will be remembered that his father, L. B. Clore, won the championship prize in 1907 and 1908 and was barred from competing, but it is a fair assumption that the boy had some of the old gentleman's seed corn as well as the benefit of his many years of experience.

now, well past the meridian of life, his many friends rejoice with him that he has won a worthy bride and wish him many years of happy married life.

SCRATCH-THOUGHT-TALKS ON EVERYDAY TOPICS MOSTLY LOCAL.

BY BOOSTERS, KICKERS AND OTHERS
You are invited to contribute. No Questions Asked or Responsibility Assumed and No Pay Except by Court Order.

Why will women suffer with corns? Hobbles about with the sore places padded in anti-septic cotton? Every step indicating pain. They are not shod right. Put on "ground-grippers" and wear them and your troubles are over. The remedy is simple. Try it.

Please allow me to "jibe" the Boosters, Kickers and Things, for I have much to say—in few words, however.

Do you know this column is the very best feature of your most excellent paper, not-withstanding the "wall" in a recent issue. Keep on hammering! If the town can't stand to have the truth spoken "right out loud," it must be sadly in need of repairs.

"Good sewerage!" Then I hope I may never live where the sewerage is not good. Your correspondent evidently needs to take a course in some up-to-date Correspondence School for the cure of catarrh.

Kind of nice in "the people who have permitted you to prosper all these years." I wonder if they've ever knowingly given you anything except for value received. There is lots more I could say, but you would not print it, I fear.

Say, speaking of that diamond story, what was our efficient Selectman Holmes doing with that interesting little paper "To the Mayor. Beware of swindlers." Had he informed the jewelers or done anything to make it public? Seems to me it ought to have been put on exhibition in some conspicuous place, like the post office for instance. Rather late in the day to make it public after someone was "stung."

What's the matter with making that "Garage Law" apply to some of the "grown-ups" of our fair village, I think it would fill a long felt want.

Good Streets and Sidewalks Wanted.
It is easy to condemn one for fault-finding. It is easy to find fault with that which can't be helped, weather for instance. But is it fault-finding if one does not like to wade in mud on the sidewalks, say from between Whitman and Cottage street, whenever it rains or thaws?

Is fault-finding if one does not like to turn their ankles on such sidewalks as that between L. W. Waite's store and the post office?

Anyone needs rubbers as much on our streets as in a country district. The above pieces of sidewalks are travelled more than any part of the village, and are about the limit. Were it not for the good spots that some one person has had the enterprise to fix privately, the streets would be as good walking as the sidewalks.

If Norway were unable to have things right it would be foolish to complain. But this is not true. Bridgton has miles of perfect walks. The little village of Bolster's Mills is well provided for, where there is not one travels to a hundred here.

If some loyal Norwegian thinks this is knocking the town, will said man begin down to Isaac Abbott's and walk to the Geo. Cole home, some muddy day, keep his eyes open for the varied patch work—soft brick, hard brick, field rocks, granite blocks, clay, mud and coal ashes—a truly beautiful collection. Try it and see if you are not proud of our otherwise beautiful streets, that is, above the ground.

As a remedy for this condition, have some uniform method, assess abutters, have every rod of walks laid in the future alike according to specifications, and have whatever is done in the future, plain and worthy the name sidewalk.

The closing of the highway to autos around Bear Pond has been a damage to our town. No doubt of it said a prominent Waterford citizen. It would have been better for the town to have expended a thousand dollars and put into a safe condition at the start. We didn't do it. We made the mistake of closing it and have fought against it ever since.

We have a report of H. D. Evans, director of the Maine Laboratory of Hygiene as to the analysis of water. Samples of water taken in October, 1912.

Bethel Water Co., color, 25; odor when hot, vegetable; chlorine, .07; oxygen consumed, .04; hardness, 1.0; alkalinity, 0.30; iron, .008; bacteria per c. c., 70.

Hebron Water Co., color, 1.1; odor when hot, slight; chlorine, .13; oxygen consumed, .19; hardness, 1.3; alkalinity, 0.50; iron, .037; bacteria per cent. c. c., 30.

South Paris Water Co., color, 1.7; odor when hot, vegetable; chlorine, .13; oxygen consumed, .032; hardness 1.0; alkalinity, 1.00; iron, .017; bacteria per c. c., 12.

Norway Water Co., color, 1.1; odor when hot, grassy; chlorine, 1.3; alkalinity 0.30; iron, .019; bacteria per cent. c. c., 60.

All these waters are unpoluted and good drinking water says Director Evans. It's fortunate he tells us that as the layman would hardly know what conclusion to draw from the above figures and might refrain from drinking water.

The water for October from these four Oxford County Water Co's is all right so drink it and be not afraid.

The Ginn House on Lyon street bears a sign, "Single meal 25 cents; meals at all hours."

This innkeeper's sign is unconsciously telling a lie; the house has been closed for several years; its only inhabitants are rats and mice, maybe the stable was occupied part of last summer.

The late Geo. P. Andrews built this place some 30 years ago and run it as a boarding house for some years. He made money here. It was later sold to Chas. C. Tibbetts of Fryburg, who continued the business and here he laid the foundation for the wealth he amassed in the hotel business in Waterville and Kennebunk.

Mr. Tibbetts died a few years ago and his widow, who runs the Museum House at Kennebunk owns this stand.

W. H. Ginn operated for some time several French tenants have had it but for some years past it has been closed.

It is an excellent place for some one who wants to make money in a boarding house.

The lying sign should be taken in. Mrs. Tibbetts says it is not for sale. It is a good location and there is a good living and money in it for someone. Mrs. Tibbetts is making nothing out of it as it now is. Better do something or give somebody else a chance.

The Maine Central owns the Narrow Gauge to Harrison. In the near future this diminutive rail road is to be changed to standard gauge. When that is done the evident intention is to extend the road thro' Waterford. Wise ones say the extension will be to South Waterford, Waterford, East Waterford, Stoneham and North Lovell, and thus connecting and opening up the Big Kewar which is a business about a summer resort.

The business about these lakes has increased wonderfully in the past decade. The plan of extension is possible and will not doubt be made profitable to the road. It will divert some business from the Grand Trunk and this would be a pleasure to the New Haven and of the Maine Central as things have existed for the past two years. Maybe the war with the G. T. Ry. is over. It looks that way now.

The above proposed extension is pleasing to me but could it be done? The abuttor to the New Haven and of the Maine Central is a thing have existed for the past two years. Maybe the war with the G. T. Ry. is over. It looks that way now.

Do we all return thanks as we ought to, to the night we built out the light and go to bed and rest in peace, no member of the family ill enough to need watchers, plenty of plain every day comforts around us and a good roof over our heads? Think it over, everybody. Have you a home of your own? Think of those who have none.

The method of building the sidewalks in the past is largely responsible for the present bad condition of the sidewalks. The abuttor to the New Haven and of the Maine Central is a thing have existed for the past two years. Maybe the war with the G. T. Ry. is over. It looks that way now.

The new walks to go in next season should not be built the way. All the walks should be laid to the grade as established by the recent survey as shown by the blue print in the Assessors' office.

The present scarcity of coal and the high price of wood has led many to ask how it was that our fathers kept their families warm.

Why, bless you, our fathers did not heat every fire place in the living room and in this was burned wood four feet long, and sometimes longer than that.

A man was telling recently of having seen his father draw large logs, too big to be carried, into the kitchen, with his horses, and roll them into the place.

Connected therewith, were huge affairs, and contained enough brick to build a small modern house. When this mass of brick became thoroughly heated as it was from the great fireplace, it tempered the atmosphere of the whole house, taking the chill from all the rooms, and while not making them warm enough to sit in they were plenty warm for sleeping.

When the men or women went out of doors they put on a plentiful supply of real, home made clothing which defied the fiercest attacks of Jack Frost.

This clothing was made from wool taken from the backs of the farmer's sheep and while it kept the heat in the body it kept the cold out.

Heard in the barber shop:—
Gasoline will be 25 cents per gallon after the first of January.

"I don't care," says Peaco "I'll go up on Fred Sabor's board and Mr. Cordwell will apply for an increase of wages and we'll run the machine next season just the same."

Give the streets a rest. The sidewalks a rest. A desired rest to your readers. Rest assured we'll rest with the rest of the people when something is done on streets and sewers.

A certain man—now dead—pocket peddled in Norway. Just think of it in this town! A trip was laid to catch him. The hunter needed was put in. A plot of supposed liquor was delivered to the spotter and for which he paid seventy-five cents. A tasting test of the liquor was made by the good judge and officer before issuing the warrant and it was decided the receptacle contained urine only.

Suit was not instituted to recover the seventy-five cents on the ground of selling goods under false pretenses.

There was no trial, no seizure warrant issued or talk made.

Privately we can tell you the names of all the parties but guess we won't put it in print.

This occurred before our present judge wore the ermine.

A man seldom generates steam with the money he burns.

Starling in Oxford County.

To many interested in the study of birds it is interesting to note that a new bird in Oxford County has been found which is the Starling (Sturnus Vulgaris). This bird was found at Bryant Pond on the 10th of December and one is being mounted by J. Waldo Nash of Norway.

According to the history of this species it is found that the European Starling has been introduced several times into Eastern North America but that only the last importation has been successful. In 1890 about sixty of these birds were released at Central Park, New York city, under the direction of Eugene Schieffelin. Many of them soon left the park and landed in the upper part of New York city and until recently have been known only as far north as Massachusetts.

The Starling is a native of western central Europe and briefly described is as follows: length, 8 1/2 inches; adult male, black with purple and green reflections, the feathers of the upper parts more or less tipped with pale buff, under tail-coverts edged with white, beak, yellow, feet, flesh-colored tinged with brown; female, spotted below as well as above; young, uniform ash brown, faintly streaked with darker.

This bird can easily be recognized by its general appearance and manner of flight. It is about the size of a red-winged blackbird but has a very short tail and in flight flutters like a meadow lark, but seldom sails like the lark. These birds are splendid for grass land destroying caterpillars, beetles, worms, insects, etc., but which become too numerous the fruit districts suffer.

The starling can give no special service here that cannot be equally well performed by our own black birds, meadow larks, bobolinks, sparrows and other birds but are useful in districts where these birds are not numerous enough to keep the insects of the grass land in check.

The increase and spread of these birds is rapid and often two broods in a season are raised but it is probable that only about two-thirds of the brood are reared. The starlings have a wonderful physical fitness for the struggle of supremacy as it is a hardy, muscular and powerful line.

Maine Legislature Opens Jan. 1.

This winter at the Maine Capital is likely to be one of the most eventful and interesting in the State's history.

With the Legislature divided as it is politically and important legislation to be urged and demanded, it behooves all of us to follow developments closely.

This can best be done by careful reading of the old reliable and modern equipped Kennebec Journal, a Maine daily that is commanding attention and respect among the country's best newspapers.

This winter the Kennebec Journal will not only publish daily the entire stenographic reports of the Legislative proceedings, but will maintain a staff of trained newspaper men at the Capitol to cover committee hearings, and to bring out in detail and in meaning every incident of importance.

With one of the strongest editorial and reportorial organizations ever brought together on a Maine newspaper, the Kennebec Journal is prepared to handle this winter's proceedings as has never been done before.

Advance notices of ALL the committee hearings are published in the Journal, a matter of the greatest importance to those who are watching new legislation.

The Journal also publishes at opening of session biographical sketches of members of the Legislature, accompanied by half tone portraits.

The price of Daily edition will be $1.25 for the session.
